Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 8-12, 14, and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nohr et al.

Nohr et al. disclose the claimed invention including vehicle body panel 4, flexible layer 3 and inflator 6 with conduit 7. The body panel and flexible layer being sealed by welding and the conduit comprises a port through the body panel. The arrangement can be used to form a vehicle hood as set forth in the abstract.

Note that, according to Webster's II New Riverside university Dictionary 1984, "flexible" is defined as being "capable of being bent or flexed" which property element 3 of Nohr et al. clearly has as shown in the figures.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 5 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nohr et al.

Nohr et al. disclose the claimed invention except that the elements 4 and 3 are welded together instead of attached with adhesive.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to attach the body panel and flexible layer of Nohr et al. with an adhesive instead of welding as an obvious choice of a notoriously well known functionally equivalent fastening means which involves no new or unexpected results.

7. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nohr et al. as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Fisher.

Nohr et al. disclose the claimed invention except for the inflator being a pressure accumulator rather than a pressurized gas storage device.

Fisher discloses an airbag arrangement which is inflated by a compressed gas cylinder as set forth in the abstract.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the compressed gas storage device for the pressure accumulator of Nohr et al. as an alternate, functionally equivalent and notoriously well known, as taught by Fisher, airbag inflation device which involves no new or unexpected results when used herein.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 3, 6, 13, and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references are generally related to the current invention with Ryan et al. of particular relevance in that in Figure 2B, the hood element 21 may be considered to be a flexible layer attached to body panel 22.

10. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The primary reason for the indication of the allowance of the claims in this application is that the prior art does not disclose a pedestrian protection device, as set forth in the preambles of both independent claims 1 and 11, including a transparent flexible layer or the flexible layer being attached to the body panel by a vacuum in combination with the other features set forth in the independent claims
